Pupils fall foul of trousers rule

MORE than 60 students were thrown out of classes after turning up on the first day of term wearing the wrong trousers.

In July, Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill sent letters to parents, warning that it would be clamping down on youngsters who turned up for classes wearing non-regulation leggings and "jeggings" – leggings designed to look like tight-fitting jeans – after the summer holidays.

But dozens of students arrived for the start of term wearing trousers in breach of the school's uniform code, and were promptly turned away from lessons.

Howard Lay, headteacher, said half were sent home to get changed, while the rest had to take part in supervised study away from the rest of the students.

One dad whose daughter, aged 13, was sent home told the Weekly News: "Loads of kids were sent home – it's just stupid. It's not always easy for parents to buy the right kind of clothing. It seems crazy for them to be so strict about it, and leave pupils not taking part in lessons."

Another parent said his 14-year-old daughter had been told off for wearing non-regulation shoes.

He said: "My daughter has real difficulty finding the right kind of shoes to wear, because they don't fit her feet. They were just flat ladies' shoes, but she was told to give them in at the office and was loaned someone else's shoes for the day."

Mr Lay said: "My leadership team noticed a few students were wearing leggings and jeggings instead of trousers last term."

"It was decided we wouldn't stop them being worn straight away so parents would have to buy more trousers then, but we sent out a letter explaining what the uniform requirements would be after the summer."

He added that two members of staff had even been shopping at the town's New Look store to help one mum who was not able to get to the shops to buy regulation trousers for her daughter.

Mr Lay added: "Four people felt the situation had not been handled well, and I do acknowledge the website had not been updated with the information the way it should have been. The majority of parents have been overwhelmingly supportive of what we're doing. They respect that it's the school rule, and we're reinforcing it."

Local produce showcased at store's super family fun day

LOCAL produce was showcased at a community event held at the Tesco supermarket in Haverhill.

Regional suppliers and local charities manned stalls during the event on Sunday.

The charities spoke to shoppers in a bid to recruit more volunteers, and Tesco gave away 1,000 jute shopping bags free of charge.

Family entertainment, games and refreshments – including free hot dogs and candy floss – were also provided.

Claire Bowden, community champion at the store, said: “It was a great day out for everyone, the atmosphere had a real community feel to it and was felt by both staff and customers.

“It was good to see so many people come along and support the local charities and suppliers.

“The children had lots of fun watching Punch and Judy and trying their skills at the football speed test, as well as having a go on the wiggle boards.”

Health service's psychosis treatment wins good feedback

YOUNGER people with psychotic illness in Suffolk have been complimenting the NHS service they received to help them cope.

The Suffolk Early Intervention in Psychosis Service (SEIPS) helps people aged between 14 and 35 who may be experiencing unsettling or altered thoughts.

The aim is to provide treatment early before symptoms interfere with the person's normal day to day life.

Eighty per cent of those surveyed said their mental health had changed since coming into contact with the psychosis team and 74 per cent attributed the change to contact with the service.

Jonathan Dickson, clinical lead with the Suffolk Mental Health Partnership NHS Trust, said: “We are very pleased with how positive the user and carer feedback has been.

“This is a relatively new service and has exceeded expectations and targets set.

“This is down to a dedicated and hardworking team. The feedback substantiates the early intervention model of care and is shaping our future practice.”

Other findings from the service user group were that 85 per cent said their ability to carry out everyday tasks had improved and 82 per cent said this was because of the SEIPS team.

Golfers chip in £10k

A CHARITY golf day organised by a Suffolk-based affordable homes provider raised £10,000 for a good cause.

More than 100 golfers took part in Havebury Housing Partnership's event, which was held at Thetford Golf Club in aid of drugs charity Focus 12.

Each participant, playing in a team of four, played 18 holes, before enjoying a two-course buffet, raffle and auction.

Philip Sullivan, director of operations at Havebury – which has offices in Haverhill – said: "Given the current economic climate, we are delighted to have raised such a fantastic amount. Everyone has been so generous with both their time and money for such a well-deserving charity."

The winning team, the Misfits – made up of Richard Chaplin, Neil Clarke, Robert Grove and Patrick Harris – won a voucher for MyJoys, giving them the chance to custom design a pair of golf shoes.

The money raised goes to Focus 12, a Bury St Edmunds-based charity which provides drug and alcohol rehabilitation through residential and daycare facilities.

Man denies punching woman in face

A MAN accused of punching a woman in the face during a domestic dispute has denied the charge in court.

Lee Chandler, of Stockley Close, Haverhill, denied one charge of assault in the town's Monarch Close on August 8 this year. Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court heard on Monday that Chandler, 38, allegedly punched the woman and caused a facial injury.

The case was adjourned until Monday, September 20, at the same court and Chandler was released on conditional bail until that date.

Power tools stolen

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Carl Edley at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

School among going 'free' list

CAMPAIGNERS in Clare say they are "thrilled" to be among just 16 new "free schools" in the country that are set to open next year.

The Stour Valley Educational Trust, based in Clare, was one of the new establishments announced by Education Secretary Michael Gove this week.

It plans to set up the Stour Valley Community School for 11 to 16-year-olds, on the site occupied by Clare Middle School, and it will open in September 2011.

All secondary school age children would be welcome to attend and the school is designed initially to accommodate 600 pupils.

As a state school, it will be free, funded by central Government and governed by the trust on behalf of the community.

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Patrick Bell, one of the trustees, said: "We are thrilled but we are not complacent.

"We are working in a process with the Department for Education. We have consistently hit the targets and we need to do that for the next few months.

"We have had 1,500 letters of support from people that would prefer to have their children educated in a medium-size school in the community."

He said the trust would take over the middle school buildings after its scheduled closure next summer.

The trust said the new school will teach a different curriculum to a different age group with different teachers.

Mr Gove said he was "excited by the extent of interest" in the free school scheme and the approval for 16 to open next year was "well in excess" of his expectations.

He said: "I expect that there will probably be 16 schools in the very first wave.

"We have had over 700 groups that have been in contact with a charity called the New Schools Network that has been operational over the last few months.

"Of those 700, about 100 or so have actually put applications in to the Department for Education and of those, there are 16 that are mustard-keen to open in September 2011."

But shadow education secretary Ed Balls said: "It's laughable for Michael Gove to claim that just 16 free schools opening next year exceeds his expectations.

"In the summer he talked about 700 new free schools and a year ago he was talking about thousands."

Teachers take pupils and lessons to the movies

PUPILS from Haverhill schools can look forward to a week of free trips to the cinema.

National Schools Film Week (NSFW) runs from October 14-22.

The festival aims to link the big screen directly to pupils' studies, and organisers are also offering a host of movie-related online resources to get youngsters engaged with the national curriculum.

Nationally, there will be 2,800 screenings, tailored towards different age groups, at 570 cinemas across the UK – including Haverhill Art Centre and Cine-world.

The films on show this year include The Princess and the Frog,

The Boy in the Striped Pyjamas, Planet 51, Nanny McPhee & The Big Bang, Toy Story 3 and Ponyo.

Jill Eastland, a teacher at Cambridge Regional College, said: "We all enjoy the whole experience of visiting the cinema and also it gets young people thinking critically about film."

Nick Walker, director of NSFW, said: "We hope that teachers and students feel engaged in the festival and realise that attending a NSFW screening is far more than a nice trip to the cinema."

"We do this by giving schools added talks and online resources to contextualise the film to empower teachers by giving them the opportunity to programme which films they feel tie in with school topics at their local cinema, and finally to encourage students to explore new worlds by seeing films they would not ordinarily choose."

To book free tickets for their pupils, teachers should visit www.nsfw.org

Man, 29, killed in rail line tragedy

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MAN from Haverhill who was killed by a train near Cambridge railway station has been named.

Przemyslaw Ruppenthal, of Garlands Close, off Apple Acre Road, Haverhill, died in the incident just north of the city's station last Wednesday.

An inquest was opened into his death by the Cambridgeshire coroner yesterday.

It found that the 29-year-old had died of multiple injuries sustained in the incident.

The inquest has been adjourned to a later date while British Transport Police produce a report into the death.

Police and ambulance crews were called to Newmarket Road at 9.20am after receiving reports that a man had thrown himself from a bridge over the tracks.

It is believed the man was already on the railway line, rather than falling from the bridge on Newmarket Road next to the Leper Chapel, just before he was hit by the train.

Tragedy: the bridge where the man was hit by the train.

A British Transport Police spokesman confirmed a man had died after being hit by a train and said that the incident was being treated as "non-suspicious".

The incident caused delays for passengers heading for several destinations in and out of Cambridge.

Passengers faced delays of up to 30 minutes following the closure of the Ely to Cambridge line and a replacement bus service was put into operation for almost three hours.

There were also knock-on delays for passengers heading for Norwich, Ipswich and the north via Peterborough.

The disruptions followed serious delays the previous day on the East Coast main line after a power line problem at Huntingdon.

Health boss steps across border to take on top role

THE new interim chief executive of NHS Suffolk comes from just across the county boundary.

Dr Paul Watson, currently chief executive at North East Essex, will join the organisation on secondment from October 1.

He trained as a doctor at Cambridge University, followed by postgraduate training in public health in Yorkshire.

Dr Watson has held a number of board-level medical and general management posts and is also a member of the Independent Reconfiguration Panel and the NICE Appraisal Committee.

He said: "It is an immense privilege to be taking on this role."

"The enthusiasm of staff – and what they have achieved by working together for the people of Suffolk – has impressed me hugely.

"I have found working at NHS North East Essex immensely rewarding. I leave in the knowledge that a talented and committed team will be continuing their excellent work."

Dr Watson takes over from Carole Taylor-Brown, who has left on the grounds of ill health. She led NHS Suffolk since it was created in 2006.

Alistair McWhirter, chairman of NHS Suffolk, wished Mrs Taylor-Brown well for the future.

He added: "The board welcomes Dr Watson to the team."

"We believe he will be very committed to the changes we have to make as well as ensuring the people of Suffolk continue to receive the best possible care available."

Case sent for trial by jury

A MAN accused of causing a spinal fracture when he pushed a woman over during a domestic dispute has appeared in court.

Keith Brown, of Aragon Road, Haverhill, denied one charge of causing grievous bodily harm without intent on May 3.

Bury Magistrates' Court heard on Monday that Brown, 52, allegedly pushed the woman after an argument about text messages involving third parties. She injured her spine in the fall at her home and had to take four weeks off work.

Magistrates declined jurisdiction and committed the case to Bury St Edmunds Crown Court on Monday, October 18. Brown was released on conditional bail.

Man admits assault charges

A MAN admitted two charges of assaulting his wife but denied a third when he appeared before magistrates.

Stephen Nash, of Roman Way, Haverhill, admitted charges of assault by beating between August 10 and 28.

Magistrates in Bury St Edmunds heard Nash also admit one charge of assault by beating against a 15-year-old boy, who can not be named for legal reasons, on August 28.

The case was adjourned until Monday, September 20 at the same court and Nash, 55, was released on conditional bail.

What happened to our town?

Sir, Tonight, as my husband and I were out taking our dogs for their evening walk, we were strolling along Queen Street in Haverhill. We were passing Thing-Me-Bob's, on the path for pedestrians, when a car came along and the driver decided he wanted to park right there. He did slow slightly but was intimidating my husband by getting as close as possible. Then he started to roll down his window, obviously to say something to my husband, all the time, the car was still in motion and heading very, very close.

We made it to the end of the street where it is one-way so no need to watch towards Peas Hill, just where cars may come up the one-way. A young teen was riding his bike, very fast, across Queen Street and back onto the pedestrian path by the Saffron Walden Building Society, nearly running over my husband. The lad was busy trying to catch up and yelling to get the attention of some girls/women that were walking down the street. It would have been a disaster if I hadn't yelled for my husband to look out!

These two incidents happened no more than a couple of minutes apart. Ever since the refurbished road was put in it has been a situation that is getting worse and worse. When cars are allowed in Queen Street, pedestrians do not seem to matter anymore, like they do not belong there... on the path! We feel more and more intimidated all the time. It has become a haven for teens to hang around and it has become totally trashy. All the bins there and the ground is where all the litter goes. Cars park wherever they want so some nights it is necessary to walk around the car parked on the path via the street. We have heard complaints from several people that walk there also, so it isn't just us complaining, even if it is just to one another.

I don't know how to resolve these problems. More rules and laws will not work – the ones we have are not enforced, which is why it has gotten so bad. Broken glass everywhere, youths talking filthy language and trying to intimidate people. I hear about this and experience this a lot. But it isn't just the youth – the ones in cars have always been male and probably in their 30s. Being intimidated by cars/drivers while walking on the path has happened several times to either my husband or myself.

We also have problems with the high streets. Cars use the street with impunity. Bikes can go the wrong way on the streets and both car and bike users seem to think the path and the streets belong strictly to them, pedestrians have to be completely on their guard at all times.

The situations have become much worse since Queen Street was redone. I know it is not the fault of the newly redone street, and we really enjoy the new stores, it's just the ones that seem to think they are safe to do as they please; after all, nothing will happen and the rules and laws don't pertain to them. Is there nothing that can be done about this sort of behaviour?

No doubt you have received these sorts of complaints from many individuals. Maybe it's time to take action and make Haverhill a lovely and safe town, where pedestrians can feel safe and residents are not ashamed when they have out-of-town visitors. It wasn't all that long ago when you felt safe and proud in Haverhill. What happened?

Views needed on town centre

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

BUSINESSES are being asked to help with a new survey to get better information on visitor and shopper behaviour in Haverhill town centre.

It will be launched at the next meeting of The Best of Haverhill at 10am next Thursday at The Days Inn.

The survey will involve some of the town's independent retailers, businesses, organisations and business support agencies.

Town centre manager Tina Hanks, co-ordinator of the survey, will be the guest speaker at the launch.

She said: "This project has been initiated by some of our local businesses who are keen to get both quantitative and qualitative data on visitor and shopper behaviour patterns in the town centre.

"We are hoping people will take the time to complete the short survey as this will provide an invaluable insight into what people think of the town and its current retail and service offer.

Guest speaker:
Tina Hanks is co-ordinating a survey of shoppers' behaviour in Haverhill.

"The more completed surveys we receive then the greater and more accurate this insight will be."

She wants help from businesses to distribute the surveys, either via email to their employees and contacts, by providing a link on their website or providing copies for people to complete on their premises.

She said: "If people choose to complete the form and include their name and address, they will be entered into a prize draw for £100 of shopping vouchers."

Elaine Carr, owner of The Best of Haverhill franchise, said: "Increased footfall and spend in the town centre not only benefits the businesses located there, it also generates wealth and vibrancy and makes the town a more attractive proposition for further inward investment.

"We are happy to support this exciting initiative. Learning what people think about the town is just the first step in a process which should eventually allow us to market and promote Haverhill even more successfully."

The closing date for the survey is November 30 and the data will be processed and analysed in early 2011.

Any organisation that would like to take part in distributing the survey should contact Tina Hanks on (01440) 765100 or at Tina.Hanks@stedsbc.gov.uk

Bid to find walks for wheelchair users

A NEW project is being launched to help wheelchair users and disabled people enjoy the beautiful Suffolk countryside.

Disability charity Optua and the partner organisations of Healthy Ambitions Suffolk, which include the county council and NHS Suffolk, are planning a new guide for walks accessible for wheelchair users and other disabled people.

They want suggestions for walks, whether it is a short riverside walk or something more challenging.

Each walk must be checked for accessibility, including its suitability for people with sensory impairments.

Linda Hoggarth, chairman of Optua, said: "Although there is plenty of information available about the hundreds of wonderful walks in Suffolk, there is very little information about walks accessible for wheelchair users and people with restricted mobility and that could also be enjoyed by people with sensory impairments.

"We know of some walks which are wheelchair accessible but would love to hear from other wheelchair users who know of walks or places which we could include in a new guide.

"We'd also like to hear from anyone who would be interested in checking out the accessibility of these walks."

For more information call Optua on (01473) 836746 or email feedback@optua.org.uk

New deputy in charge

HAVERHILL'S affordable homes provider has appointed a new director.

Havebury Housing Partnership has welcomed Philip Sullivan as its new director of operations and deputy chief executive.

Philip has an extensive background in housing, having spent several years working in housing management for a London borough before joining the Guinness Trust in 1998 as area manager for East Anglia. Most recently he was director of customer service for Guinness Midsummer.

Philip, who is a chartered surveyor and a member of the Chartered Institute of Housing, said: "Throughout my time at Guinness, I was responsible for both housing management and maintenance services, working with customers to help create communities where everyone is proud to live."

"I have a real passion for delivering excellent customer service so I'm looking forward to doing the same at Havebury."

Karen Mayhew, chief executive at Havebury, said: "With such an extensive and successful work history, I am sure that Philip will be an asset to us here at Havebury, both to his colleagues and the residents he will support."

New role: Philip Sullivan has joined Havebury Housing Partnership.

Crackdown catches out speeding drivers

BY JOHN DOWNING

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

MORE than 1,450 motorists were caught speeding in Suffolk during a week-long European speed enforcement campaign.

The campaign, lead by TISPOL – the European Traffic Police Network – ran across the county for a week at the end of August.

It was held during a month in which Suffolk police's roads policing unit was already running its own dedicated crackdown.

Increased checks and enforcement have been seen throughout the county as officers focus their efforts on one aspect of road safety each month.

A reduction in excess speed was the objective for August and motorists were warned of the TISPOL campaign through advance publicity.

But 1,116 people were still caught by police officers and Suffolk Safety Camera Partnership cameras and a further 337 were caught by fixed cameras in the county.

In a similar campaign in April this year, 900 motorists were caught speeding.

Inspector Zoe Finn, of the roads policing unit, puts the rise down to the month-long focus on excessive speed, but is still disappointed by the figures:

She said: "Our officers have been working very hard to crackdown on those who drive at excessive speed during August."

"This remains a priority throughout the year but this month and the TISPOL campaign has seen an extra focus."

"It is very disappointing that there are so many people not taking notice of our warnings and driving at excessive speed."

"Forty-two people were killed on Suffolk's roads last year and the role speed plays in both fatal and serious road traffic collisions cannot be underestimated."

She said there was never an excuse for flouting the speed limit and drivers need to realise the impact driving at excessive speeds can have.

She added: "It is a very simple message but a very important one – speed kills – and by targeting those who are speeding we hope we can save lives."

Thousands join the fun of village fayre

FERRETS, a pipe band and spacehopper races were among the attractions at Thurlow Fayre.

BY STEPHEN EXLEY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Sunday's event drew thousands of people to the village sports ground in Great Thurlow.

Highlights included a gun dog and ferret display and performances by Colchester Pipes and Drums and Hadstock Silver Band.

Linton Radio Controlled Model Club also gave a demonstration, and guests had the chance to browse around the giant car boot sale.

Family attractions included a children's tug of war, sack races, a dog show, reptile tent, bouncy castle and circus skills workshop.

The event raises funds for community groups, such as Thurlow's churches, school, pre-school, toddler group, village hall, Women's Institute and sports teams in Thurlow and Little Bradley, as well as charities in the Haverhill area.

Alan Loveday, one of the event organisers, said: "It went very well.

"We had approximately 2,000 visitors, which exceeded the expectations of the organising committee."

Recognised: Cllr Judy Terry, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for Greenest County, and Jonathan Thompson, area environment planning team leader for the Environment Agency, present their certificate to Hannah Good, environmental manager at Jacob Bailey.

Business first for carbon-friendly firm

THE first business in the county has been recognised under the new Suffolk Carbon Charter.

The charter allows businesses to be recognised for the work they are doing to reduce their energy consumption, and has been developed by the Environment Agency and Suffolk County Council, with support from the Suffolk Chamber of Commerce.

Following an independent audit,

Jacob Bailey Ltd has been awarded the silver charter, which shows that they have developed an action plan and made significant efforts to reduce their carbon emissions.

This accreditation lasts for one year.

Shaun Bailey, chief executive of Jacob Bailey, said: "To fight climate change as a business you first need buy-in from all of your staff which we are fortunate to have across the entire Jacob Bailey group."

Cllr Judy Terry, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for greenest county, said: "The challenge of climate change is something that we all need to take into account – whether we're at home or at work. This charter will allow businesses to show their customers and staff that they are playing their part in creating the greenest county whilst also making savings."

Warning on buyers at the doorstep

A WARNING has been issued about doorstep callers offering to buy gold, jewellery and antiques.

Trading standards officers in Suffolk have had a number of complaints about unsolicited callers using pushy techniques to buy valuable items at less than their true value.

A spokeswoman for the county's trading standards department said: "We are warning anyone thinking of selling any of these items to think very carefully about whether a trader on the doorstep is going to offer them the best deal.

provide cancellation rights.

"So once the price has been agreed and money has been paid there is no opportunity to change your mind and get your goods back."

The spokeswoman added: "Consumers are urged not to feel pressured into selling anything they don't want to and are invited to contact trading standards with any information or leaflets that they might receive offering this service."

'I won't let Alzheimer's disease change who I am'

TERESA Hart makes a mean lemon drizzle cake.

Handing round a plate, heavily laden with slices of sweet and sticky sponge, she is entertaining teatime guests; chatting away nineteen to the dozen, she's a natural host.

To her visitors, Teresa appears much like any other woman her age. The 61-year-old adores her family: it's not long before the photo albums come out, showcasing the smiling faces of children and grandchildren.

Teresa has a busy social life; a keen churchgoer and fundraiser, she and husband Cecil hold regular coffee mornings for charity. And, of course, she's a prodigious baker – as anyone who's sampled her lemon tray bake will know.

But when everyone's gone home, the door is closed and the curtains drawn, it becomes clear that Teresa is not like most middle-aged women. She struggles to read and write. She can't pop to the shops or iron a skirt. She can't even get herself dressed unaided.

Like almost half a million other people in the UK, Teresa has Alzheimer's disease. The most common form of dementia, it is an incurable, degenerative and, ultimately, terminal condition. Caused by so-called "plaques" and "tangles" in the brain – which lead to the death of brain cells – it results in a raft of symptoms: confusion, memory loss, mood swings, impaired language skills and, eventually, the breakdown of basic bodily functions.

BY ALICE RYAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"When the doctor said: 'It's Alzheimer's' it was a horrible shock," admits Teresa. "But I decided then that I would carry on and live my life as normally as possible – and that I wouldn't let this illness change me, who I am."

"It's not always easy. I do feel frustrated sometimes; sometimes I feel sad. But I want to let people know there is life after being diagnosed with Alzheimer's."

Teresa and Cecil, who live in Buckden, near Huntingdon, are lending their support to World Alzheimer's Day: a global event designed to raise both awareness of the disease and funds for research and support charities, it falls on September 21 this year.

"The next coffee morning we do will be in aid of Alzheimer's," says Cecil, 75.

Teresa adds: "It's an illness which doesn't just hurt you, it hurts your whole family. Anything we can do to help, we will."

Teresa was diagnosed with Alzheimer's in her late 50s. She had been having problems with her eyesight for years; unable to get to the root of the problem, her optician referred her to the hospital – where scans revealed a rare early-onset form of the disease.

"It was a hell of a shock to us both," recalls Cecil. "At the time I didn't really understand what Alzheimer's meant: it made me think all sorts, of old people wandering about and getting lost... I just didn't know what to expect."

"In fact, Alzheimer's has changed our lifestyle completely. I have to do all kinds of things round the house that I'd never done before; the hardest thing of all is sorting out Teresa's clothes."

"She needs a new bra at the moment. I didn't fancy going to a shop so I went to get one on the internet, but I ended up on eBay by mistake... It's things like that – things which Teresa would have done without thinking – that are the hardest of all."

Since her diagnosis, almost two years ago, both Cecil and Teresa agree her condition has deteriorated. The only place Teresa can go alone is the church within Buckden Towers, just down the road from the Harts' house. She attends a service there most mornings.

"My faith gives me great strength," says Teresa. "I know He is with me every day; He's been with me through lots of bad times. I pray every day: sometimes when I'm just walking along the road I'll say a little prayer."

"Going to church gives me some quiet time. And I feel safe there. Most people know me. Members of the congregation are asked to read out sections of the service, but they know I can't – so they just pass the book along to the next person in the pew, without saying a word. It's nice not having to explain."

In the months following her diagnosis, Teresa's health took quite a sharp turn; it reached the point where she couldn't even bake her famous cakes. "Sometimes I go to the cupboard and just can't find what I need," she explains. "I can't read any of the labels... I get totally confused."

But – thanks to the Alzheimer's drug Donepezil, which eases symptoms – Teresa is now baking again. "I have to get all the ingredients out before I start and I have to close the kitchen door behind me: I can't be interrupted. But I have been able to bake a few cakes, which is really nice."

Strange and crowded places can be stressful for Teresa; there's no way, she admits, she could go into town without Cecil. "It's like something else is leading you: you turn left or right and then don't know where you are," she continues. "It can be a bit frightening. But Cecil is wonderful. He'll hold onto me if there are lots of people "To be honest, I don't think I would have survived if it wasn't for him – and our amazing family. The children are always coming to see us, and the grandchildren.

"With that kind of support you can't really get fed up or down: there's always a reason to smile."

While she chats, Teresa leafs through a scrapbook she's been making. Full of snapshots, it charts the progress of her two youngest granddaughters, both still babies. "That's Ruby, look, and Jasmine – aren't they lovely?" asks Teresa. "I love doing this book. It helps me remember. More than anything, I want to see these children grow up."

Teresa and Cecil, a retired carpenter and joiner, have four children and five grandchildren. One of their daughters, Lorraine, was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis – the most common disabling neurological condition among young adults in the UK – aged just 29.

"Like me, she has good days and bad days," says Teresa. "But we're all positive. If you smile and you're happy, and you can make a joke of things when they go wrong, I think you're much better off."

Cecil, better known to his many friends as Mouse, is Teresa's main carer. He's had his share of health troubles, too – a heart scare, a whole series of knee ops, diabetes – and admits looking after his wife isn't always easy.

"I do feel angry sometimes. It's so frustrating when she can't see something that's right there, on the table in front of her. Occasionally I have raised my voice, and I've felt sorry about it afterwards."

"Not that we don't enjoy ourselves: we still have a laugh. We see friends every Friday, go out on day trips, go on holiday – last time we did a bus holiday, which made it a bit easier, because you can just get on and go.

"When we're in company, Teresa looks absolutely fine, she's a perfect looking woman. It's when the door's closed and the curtains are drawn, that's when it really gets hard."

"And I find the not knowing hard too – not knowing how this illness will progress, or how fast."

Teresa admits: "I do have bad days, days when I get up, everything starts going wrong and I decide to just go back to bed for a bit. But I believe you have to be positive and have to try to overcome what's happening to you. And you have to take each day as it comes – in fact, that's the only thing you can do."

'The greatest medical challenge'

THERE are more than 6,000 people in Cambridgeshire living with the daily reality of dementia, and 820,000 throughout the UK – figures forecast to rise significantly in the next generation. Dementia has been described as "the greatest medical challenge of our generation", yet research is drastically under-funded, particularly in comparison with other serious diseases. The Alzheimer's Research Trust, the UK's leading dementia research charity, raises money to fund world-class research to find preventions, treatments and the ultimate cure. It is currently funding 120 promising projects across the country, including more than £1.8 million of research projects in Cambridge. The charity relies entirely on its supporters to raise money, including those people who leave a gift in their will.

Free information about Alzheimer's disease and related dementias is available from the Alzheimer's Research Trust by calling (01223) 843899 or online at www.alzheimers-research.org.uk.

Battle of the Brains

The challenge is on to raise money for the Alzheimer's Research Trust. Everyone loves a quiz! It's a fun, easy way to get people together and raise money as well as being a great social event – whether at home, with family and friends, with colleagues or a local community group.

Every £12.50 raised will pay for one hour of vital research. A free fundraising pack is available with handy tips on how to organise a Battle of the Brains quiz night, complete with posters to promote the event and question and answer sheets. To request a fundraising pack contact Jodie Thompson on (01223) 843899 or email fundraising@alzheimers-research.org.

Rugby man Jim's 15,000-mile South African adventure

AS a former firefighter, Jim Butler is not a man to shy away from adventure.

But he is surpassing himself with his latest expedition: a 15,000-mile road trip from the UK to Cape Town, South Africa.

The epic six-month adventure will see Jim and seven other volunteers in the "Bhupesi Pride, TransAfrigue 2011" team spend a week at 15 different stops in 10 African countries, where they will give rugby training to the local children.

The expedition will start in January in Cheltenham and end in Cape Town six months later. The project is partnered by two charities, United Through Sport and touraid.

The team needs to raise £150,000 for the expedition – but it is hoping Land Rover will be providing the three vehicles needed for the journey.

The retired plumber, of The Street, Ashen, near Haverhill, spotted an advert looking for volunteers for the trip placed in Land Rover Monthly magazine.

He said: "I am the oldest member of the group by some way. I will be 58 soon and the other men are aged between 25 and 35.

"I had to take part in assessment weekend to get a place, but I think the fact I've done this before and the insight and knowledge I can bring, helped me win a place."

Initially, people 120 applied to join the expedition. This was whittled down to 20, who attended an assessment day in Cheltenham.

Jim impressed during a series of team-working exercises, rugby coaching sessions and a one-to-one interview to claim his place on the trip.

Rugby will be used as a means of improving health and social cohesion, empowering teaching and coaching staff and inspiring permanent links between schools in Africa and the UK.

In 2007, Jim and his family spent two-and-a-half months driving a Land Rover full of equipment, medicines and educational aids to Amani Children's Home in Tanzania.

He said: "I have a real love of Africa, and I wanted to go back and see the bits I didn't get to see last time round.

"I'm also looking forward to assisting in the coaching of rugby and helping the children to develop."

■ If you would like to sponsor Jim or can provide equipment or tools for the project, call 07804 652612 or email jim@rugbyinafrica.org

Nostalgic trip to the Welsh valleys

With Minder legend Dennis Waterman for a dad and actress Patricia Maynard for a mum, you'd have put money on Hannah Waterman following her creative folks into the acting profession. But a young, wilful Hannah had ideas of her own.

"I wanted to be a vet!" she laughs. "But I was never any good at science so it was a fairly ridiculous idea, really."

"Any parent is always glad to see their child happy and able to support themselves. But most actors who have children would say that the last thing they want their child to be is an actor!"

However, the theatrical blood was clearly coursing through her veins, and it was only natural that Hannah found herself treading the boards – best known for her portrayal of Laura Beale in EastEnders.

This month she takes to the stage in Nina Bawden's beloved children's tale of magic mystery and nostalgia, Carrie's War, which has remained a classic for more than 30 years. After a successful run in the West End, the stage adaptation of this tale of two evacuated children and the characters they encounter is appearing in Cambridge, complete with a sterling cast.

Scooping a role in the enchanting play is a particular pleasure for Hannah who grew up with the story as a girl. "I read the book as a kid and I loved it, it's a lovely story which you can really get involved with. And the adaptation's very true to the novel. "There are some very magical elements to the story, and it's seen through a child's eyes so there's an innocence to it," she says.

"Yet it's not all airy-fairy and mystical and magical, there's a brutal, real side to it as well. And I think what's lovely about it is that it's a family story which really crosses the generations. There's a resonance in it for the parents, the grandparents and the children. Quite often with theatre it's not universal, and you couldn't take your kids to it. But with this you absolutely can and I think that's to be encouraged."

Carrie's War tells the story of two ordinary children who are evacuated to a Welsh mining town at the start of the Second World War. The play, also starring Brit screen favourite Brigit Forsyth – the formidable Thelma in Whatever Happened to the Likely Lads? – features an impressive 13-strong cast who will be adorning the tale with various Welsh songs and hymns – all performed live.

Londoner Hannah – who lived with her husband, fellow EastEnders star Ricky Groves, in a village near St Neots until their recent split – can surely be forgiven for feeling a little apprehensive, as we all might, at the prospect of singing in a different language.

"It's quite a challenge because not only do I have to do a convincing Welsh accent – or hopefully convincing – amongst other Welsh people, I also have to speak in Welsh. And sing!"

Hannah began acting at school and attended the National Youth Theatre before embarking on her own career in the business. She recently filmed an episode of comedy crime drama New Tricks, starring alongside her dad.

Between 2000 and 2004 Hannah was known across the nation for her part as Laura Dunn – later Beale – in EastEnders.

Hannah herself found romance on the Square and married Ricky Groves, who played Garry Hobbs, in 2006. The couple split in January this year.

The Carrie's War tour will be keeping Hannah busy until the end of November and she is looking forward to bringing the play to audiences across the country.

"As well as appealing to children it should provide a sort of nostalgic trip for the adults as well. It should be quite magical for everyone."

THEGUIDE SCREEN THEATRE MUSIC

Fabulous four

AMERICAN star Rachel Harrington returns to Acoustic Routes at CB2 in Cambridge this weekend with Lindisfarne founder member Rod Clements. Raised in Oregon, Rachel performs a mix of bluegrass, folk and old time gospel that has drawn comparisons with Gillian Welch. Slide guitarist Rod Clements wrote some of Lindisfarne's best-loved and enduring songs including their Top Five hit Meet Me On The Corner.

Joining them at the Norfolk Street venue will be Fran McGillivray and Mike Burke who perform a unique acoustic mix of folk-blues and hauntingly original self-penned songs featuring Fran's soulful vocals, accompanied by her bass and flute, combined with Mike's intuitive and inventive guitar and resonator playing. The music starts at 8.30pm on Saturday. Tickets are £9 and can be booked at www.acousticroutes.co.uk

Arctic artists

DRAWING together artworks held in both private and public British collections, the exhibition – Inuit Art: Masterworks from the Arctic, taking place at the Cambridge Scott Polar Museum – will examine an artistic movement that has only become established in its own right during the past few decades.

As part of the exhibition, two internationally renowned Inuit artists (printmaker Andrew Qappik and sculptor Jaco Ishulutaq) have been invited to work in Cambridge, where people can see them creating works.

The exhibition runs until tomorrow. See www.spri.cam.ac.uk/museum or call (01223) 336540.

ECUADOR'S top comic is finally on his way to Cambridge.

The volcanic eruption which caused chaos for world-wide airline schedules a few months ago forced Ed Purnell to cancel his flight from Ecuador to the UK.

But now the man – which Urban Comedy boasts is “the best, and most original, character act I have seen in years” is set to bring his special brand of humour to CB2 in Norfolk Street next Wednesday.

Opening for El will be Joel Dommett, who has been on cracking form in Edinburgh this year and was recently a finalist in the English Comedian of the Year competition.

Supporting Joel will be the fine storytelling skills of Claire Stroud and one other act who goes by the name of ‘TBC’.

It's all held together by the man with the strangest hair in comedy, Rob Coleman.

The laughter starts at 8pm and tickets are just £4 in advance at www.wegotickets.com/event/85851, or £5 if reserved by calling 07889 176050 or paid for on the door.

But the mirth and merriment doesn't end there.

Custard Comedy at Comberton Leisure Centre is back with a bang after the summer holidays and will present John Gordillo as its first headliner of the new season.

The comedy night, which will also feature Noel James, rising star Jonathan Elston and Comberton's favourite comper, Henry Paker, takes to the stage at 8.30pm on Friday, September 17 at the leisure centre, next to the village college. Gordillo is, according to the Evening Standard “one of our finest stand ups”. By turns intellectual, heartfelt and passionate, he's “a grown-up comic who combines emotional intimacy with high-quality gags”, says The Guardian.

Chief support for Gordillo is supplied by Noel James. James is part gag merchant, part absurdist, part surreal comic. He's also completely funny. “Stands out like a droll giant in a comedy land of trite dwarfs”, according to The Independent.

The line up is completed by Jonathan Elston. Still only in his early 20s, Elston has been gigging since his teens and is one of the most sought after young acts working the circuit. See him now, before he hits the big time.

As always, Henry Paker is the glue holding the night together.

Comberton's regular comper and a huge audience favourite, he's currently basking in the glory of a four-star Edinburgh review.

Custard Comedy Friday starts at 8pm.

For more information or tickets, at £8 (£6 cons) or £10 (£8 cons) on the door, phone (01223) 264444 or go to www.wegotickets.com/event/85850

Psychic Sally out on tour

WITH millions of fans, two best-selling books, a nationwide box office-busting tour to deliver and another TV series on the way, there is no stopping psychic Sally Morgan.

And she's coming to the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Thursday, September 23.

Sally says she had her first psychic experience at a young age and since then has been reading people's pasts and looking into their futures.

Sally has become a close and trusted friend of top show-business celebrities and royalty alike, famously reading for the likes of George Michael, Uma Thurman, and most notably, the late Princess Diana. She has more recently been linked to model and TV personality Katie Price.

As well as many TV appearances Sally has had two best-selling books and is currently writing her third book, Life After Death.

But for now she's back on the road and this autumn alone will play 74 shows in just 90 days.

The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets are £20.50.

To book call (01223) 357 851, go to www.cornex.co.uk or visit www.sallymorgan.tv for more information.

The big film

certificate 12A 101m

ORIGINALLY entitled The Baster, which succinctly sums up the intentions of this quirky romantic comedy, Josh Gordon and Will Speck's film is a modern story of parenthood with two significant stumbling blocks: there is no sexual chemistry between the lead actors and Allan Loeb forgot to impregnate his script with big laughs.

Jason Bateman is a gifted comic actor but his beleaguered hero is deeply unsympathetic. He's a misery guts and once the character faces the repercussions of his actions, the subsequent emotional journey is too brief, culminating in an ultimatum for his love interest, played with customary ease by Jennifer Aniston.

On paper, the two are an unlikely couple. On the big screen, they are completely mismatched. Wally Mars (Bateman) loves his best friend Kassie Larson (Aniston) but cannot declare his true feelings for fear of losing her. They have the kind of relationship where she talks bluntly about her cervix over dinner and he nods blankly. He is shocked when she announces her plan to have a child with the help of a donor. The lucky father-to-be, Roland (Patrick Wilson), is a charming blonde and poor Wally drowns his sorrows, only to accidentally destroy the freshly produced pot of sperm. He attempts to cover up his blunder by replenishing the sample and wakes the next morning with a hangover and no recollection of his actions. Seven years later, when Wally finally meets Kassie's son, Sebastian (Thomas Robinson), he notices familiar behavioural ticks and suddenly the memory of that fateful night comes flooding back. The Switch grinds through the narrative gears without any sense of urgency, separating the lead characters for seven years so that Sebastian can grow up and start exhibiting some tell tale signs of his true parentage. Wilson is wasted in a thankless supporting role while Jeff Goldblum turns lacklustre lines into a giggle with his sarcastic delivery. Juliette Lewis is similarly impressive as the protective best friend, who doesn't want Wally getting in the way of Kassie playing happy families. Without them, Gordon and Speck's picture would be a massive bore.

Holiday's over, time for garden clean-up

If you've been away for the summer and returned to dried-up pots, overgrown borders and a mass of weeds, now's the time to play catch-up before everything spirals out of control.

Thanks to a pretty wet August, your grass will have grown but if it's really long, don't try to cut it short in one fell swoop or you'll be cutting into thick brown stems which will leave your lawn looking like a mass of stubble.

Instead, do the mowing in stages, raising the blades as high as possible initially and then lowering them a notch each time you mow subsequently, so the grass will soon grow leafy again.

If your hanging baskets and containers have completely dried out, the plants may be beyond help so bite the bullet and empty the contents on to the compost heap – then you can get an early start with autumn displays and spring bulb plantings.

Containers holding year-round interest plants, such as shrubs or evergreens, may benefit from being submerged in a bucket of water to re-wet the compost, but take care not to waterlog the plants. After re-wetting, robust architectural plants such as phormiums and box can be lifted out of their containers with their root system intact to check if the compost has been completely soaked through.

If no-one has picked your crops in your absence, you are likely to come home to a large amount of stringy, tough runner beans which will need to be put on the compost heap, and the plants will probably have stopped flowering. Pick all the beans off the plants, give them some tomato feed and they should start producing again.

Tomatoes left unpicked and unwatered will be dead after two weeks, courgettes will have turned into marrows which have a more bitter flavour but are still edible, lettuces will have gone to seed and will need digging up and composting.

However, you can just sow some more in their place.

Carrots may have gone to seed but are still fine for eating. Herbs such as basil will have become quite bushy, so pinch out the tips and consider freezing some in ice cubes.

Try to find some time to clear vacant rows in your veg patch and refill them with autumn and winter crops immediately.

Borders should remain relatively unaffected if you've only had two weeks away and most areas have had some rain this August. However, plants such as sweet peas will have developed pods which will need cutting off so that they may flower again. All summer flowering plants will need deadheading and watering.

The leaves of newly-planted shrubs may start to look dull if they've been exposed to prolonged dry weather. Cut back damaged perennials to where the stems seem to be green and healthy. Cut back all brown stems and leaves and water plants thoroughly. Don't rely on rain alone. Established trees and shrubs are unlikely to have been affected while you were away.

With the heavy rain over August, weeds will have grown and will be threatening to shed seeds – which will lead to more headaches next year if you don't remove them now.

Check your pond for foreign bodies which may have fallen in, such as birds or mice, and carefully remove and dispose of them.

All perennial plants that have now finished flowering can either be cut down or left until the spring. Cutting them down makes for a tidy winter garden, but foliage, whether it be dead or alive, helps keep the garden warmer over winter, so it can be left if you can bear the unsightliness.

In the greenhouse, give everything a good feed and water, deadhead flowering plants, harvest ripe crops and have a good clear-up as you prepare for autumn and winter.

Don't leave all these jobs for much longer, or you'll end up leaving them all winter – which will give you double the work next spring.

DIRTY WORK: but tackling your garden now will save you time next spring.

THREE WAYS TO . . .

Succeed with bulbs

1. Stand pots of newly-planted bulbs on feet to allow better drainage and to prevent moisture seeping up from the ground, which will rot them.
2. Your choice will depend on where you live. Good options for cold gardens include snowdrop, crocus and narcissus, while sunny situations are better for tulip, allium, hyacinth, crocosmia and iris.

3. In large beds and borders, repeat groups of the same variety through the planting, to amplify the effect. Avoid planting in straight lines, which usually only works in large-scale, formal schemes.

Opportunity to view thousands of homes on Open House Weekend

BUYER demand in East Anglia and the urgency to complete a purchase by the end of the year has led to hundreds of homeowners signing up for open house weekends.

Abbotts Countrywide, which has offices in Haverhill, is taking part in the UK's largest Open House Weekend, to be held on September 18 and 19. Over 11,000 properties have been registered to take part in the open house weekend across the UK, with hundreds of properties from across the region opening their doors to potential buyers to visit.

Philip Macdonald, managing director at Abbotts, said: "The Open House event is an opportunity for potential home movers to see the widest selection of properties within one weekend, without having to make several appointments spanning a number of days.

"Previous Open House Weekends have seen sales agreed on thousands of properties before the end of the weekend – which is an excellent result for both the seller and the buyer."

The growing demand and urgency from buyers to achieve a quick purchase has largely been influenced by the coming VAT increase, which is set to rise from 17.5 per cent to 20 per cent, in January 2011. The biggest impact of this increase will come to those looking to fully furnish their new home and undertake improvements, as white goods and general DIY costs will all creep up.

To coincide with the event, Countrywide Mortgage Services consultants, located in Abbotts

Countrywide offices, will have access to a number of exclusive mortgages. To find out more about what mortgage options are available, contact your local Abbotts office and speak to their mortgage consultant.

Philip Macdonald adds: "It is not too late to add your home to the list of properties taking part in the event. Opening up your doors for one weekend could determine how quickly you sell your property. It also allows a high concentration of viewings to take place on the weekend without interfering with the working week."

Those looking to view properties will need to contact their local Abbotts office and they will be supplied with a unique password which will enable them access to the property.

To submit your property to take part in the event, or to register your interest as a buyer to view properties, contact your local Abbotts branch.

To view the full list of properties taking part in the Open House Weekend visit www.propertywide.co.uk.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.

Citroen revives the DS line-up

DS4 adds touch of futurism to past

CITROEN has always striven to stretch car design boundaries, and that long, proud tradition continues with the French firm's latest model, the DS4.

Following on from the DS3, it is the second model in the DS line-up, with the range name revived in tribute to the original, highly futuristic, DS of 1955.

The French firm has imbued the five-door DS4 with coupe-like lines to deliver dynamic styling within a compact footprint – the car is 4.27 metres long by 1.81 metres wide – that also packs in much versatility.

Citroen will show the car off at the Paris Motor Show on September 30, when it is also expected to reveal prices. The full DS4 range will arrive in Britain early in 2011.

It will meet its main rivals, the Nissan Qashqai and the revised Ford Focus, head-on. The Blue Oval wants its best-selling Focus family car here in time for next year's new spring 11-plate.

To give the DS4 a more competitive edge over the opposition, Citroen says it will deliver an exceptional driving experience and outstanding road handling, with premium materials used throughout the cabin. Families will also appreciate the generous 370-litre boot and the DS4's clutch of clever storage solutions.

Up front, the Citroen's cabin is done in cockpit style and is very driver-focused – all dominated by the large panoramic windscreen that extends backwards into the roofline. With the DS4 having a slightly higher stance than most rivals, driver visibility is good, with the firm's designers wanting the person in control "to feel like they have the road at the tips of their fingers".

Owners can personalise the interior, too, with the DS4 having a choice of five leather combinations, including two-tone options. Range-topping models also get high quality leather on the dashboard and door panels, complete with a bracelet seating design that evokes the links of a watch strap.

Added premium touches include chrome detailing on the air vent surrounds, the instrument cluster, gear lever, and the central console.

The car's back doors have flush handles, and there's three full-sized rear seats.

All engine choices are designed to deliver improved fuel economy and lower CO2 emissions. Citroen has also come up with new e-diesel drivetrains that boost economy with the use of an improved alternator, an electronic gearbox, and a stop-start system that can restart the engine within 0.4 of a second.

Citroen says 1.6-litre engines will be among both petrol and diesel offerings, with that 1.6 unleaded version developed jointly with BMW.

Bells and whistles fitted to the DS4 will include an assistance system that can make emergency calls for aid, a blind-spot monitoring system with ultrasound sensors and front fog lamps with cornering lights that provide an extra beam to increase visibility when turning.

The environment has been taken into account when putting the new Citroen together: The production process is said to be "ecologically focused", and around 15 per cent of the 200kg of plastic used in the vehicle is derived from green, or recycled, sources.

Radical new look as latest Suzuki Swift goes on sale

A RADICALLY different Suzuki Swift is now on sale.

Developments in styling, impact safety, driving performance and handling as well as improved fuel consumption and significantly lower emissions make up the latest compact supermini on the block.

Three clearly defined specification grades have been devised; SZ2, SZ3 and SZ4. A new Euro 5 compliant 1.2-litre petrol engine incorporating Dual VVT (Variable intake and exhaust Valve Timing) is used that produces 93bhp at 6,000rpm, slightly more than the outgoing 1.3-litre unit. Torque is also boosted to 118nm at 4,800rpm.

New Swift is even more economical with fuel consumption on the combined cycle now 56.5mpg for the manual transmission model, an improvement of 7.8mpg over the previous 1.3-litre unit. Emissions are lower too; the new 1.2-litre engine produces just 116g/km on the combined cycle – a 17 per cent improvement. The new Swift is available in nine colours.

Prices start at £9,995 for the three-door SZ2 and peak at £13,245 for the SZ4 five-door (A/T).

NEW GENERATION: The new five-door Suzuki Swift SZ4.

Mazda delight as MX-5 sales top 100,000

TWENTY years since it first arrived in the UK, the Mazda MX-5 has achieved another significant milestone with sales of the iconic sports car hitting 100,000 units.

Attributes that include wind in the hair motoring, the joy of driving, outstanding handling, affordability and unadulterated fun, have encouraged 100,000 British motorists to buy a Mazda MX-5 over the last two decades. Despite the climate the Mazda MX-5 has proven to be the UK's most popular sports car, with British motorists accounting for over 10 percent of global sales and 40 percent of European sales since the MX-5's introduction in 1990.

When Mazda unveiled the MX-5 at the 1989 Chicago Motor Show, it single-handedly resuscitated the small and affordable roadster market. Arriving when a huge motoring audience was crying out for the return of fun and affordable roof-down driving, the perfectly proportioned roadster was brilliantly conceived and engineered to deliver undiluted driving pleasure. It was an instant hit, its record-breaking sales success underline the Mazda MX-5's global appeal.

Today, its core design has remained untouched for three generations, the chassis retains its classic front engine, rear wheel-drive layout and its 50/50 weight distribution ensures that drivers feel at one with the car when driving at any speed.

The car was an instant sales success here in the UK. Arriving in mid March 1990, it racked up 2,246 sales by the end of its first year. It combined affordability, outstanding reliability, and residual value performance with an unprecedented degree of driver engagement, ensuring that the love affair with the MX-5 was destined to be an enduring relationship. It was as much a joy to drive as it was to own, creating a vast and loyal band of owners who relished its ability to turn every journey into a special event.

While the MX-5 enjoyed success in the UK, it was also well received across the globe. It entered in the Guinness Book of World Records in 2000 as the best-selling two-seater sports car in history and racked up over 178 awards with more than 880,000 sales across two decades. Fifty eight of those awards were won by the current third generation Mazda MX-5, including Japan "Car of the Year 2005-2006" and Top Gear Magazine's "Roadster of the Year 2006".

In the UK, MX-5 earned the title of "Best Sports Car" in its class in the 2010 JD Power vehicle ownership satisfaction survey and has won the "Best Roadster" title for the fifth time-in-a-row at the 2010 Auto Express New Car Awards.

For over 20 years the Mazda MX-5 has embraced the true British sports car heritage following on from the classic roadsters produced by domestic brands from the 50's and 60's. With 37 special editions alongside the impressive range, the Mazda MX-5 enjoys consistent sales success in the UK with almost 40 percent of European sales coming from British motorists. Annual UK sales hit an all time high in 2007 with 9,234 sold, going on to culminate in the 100,000th sale to Dr Helen Jones recently.

"The legendary Mazda MX-5 is the car most people associate with Mazda," said Mark Cameron, sales director, Mazda UK. "It is a car that people not only aspire to, but can afford to run and enjoy driving on a daily basis. This iconic sports car's handling has been voted as the best by motoring magazines. It is a fun car that makes each journey an enjoyable experience – a car that encompasses Mazda's soul.

"To hit 100,000 sales in the UK is a significant milestone for Mazda. We are the biggest market for this car due to our love of open-top two seat sports cars. The Mazda MX-5 finds its roots in the British heritage of soft top sports cars and has been loved by British motorists since the day it arrived on these shores," concludes Cameron.

Hyundai set to unveil ix20's 'fluidic sculpture'

HYUNDAI is set to celebrate the premiere of its new B-segment MPV (Multi Purpose Vehicle) at this year's Mondial de l'Automobile in Paris on September 30.

To be presented as the Hyundai ix20, a sketch revealed this week shows the new model as a striking departure from the boxy 'minivan' image typically associated with the segment, adopting a more dynamic, sportier profile in line with Hyundai's reputation as a modern, progressive automaker.

Designed and developed at Hyundai's European R&D centre in Rüsselsheim, Germany, the ix20 is the second European car, following the ix35, to adopt Hyundai's new 'fluidic sculpture' design language. The name ix20 reflects the new model's crossover-like versatility – a vehicle with the ability to simultaneously serve as a functional people-carrier while providing a dynamic, fun-to-drive experience. Another model making its world premiere at Paris is the new i10. This upgraded version of Hyundai's popular city car benefits from a comprehensive set of enhancements in terms of design, specification and competitiveness – including a new 1.0-litre engine with CO2 emissions of just 99g/km.

The international motor show will also afford Hyundai the opportunity to showcase the latest developments of its Blue Drive eco program. The company is targeting global leadership in environmental technologies, and the new models look set to contribute further to reductions in emissions from new Hyundai vehicles sold in Europe.

Hyundai has extended its display area at this year's show by 66 per cent, to showcase its broad product line-up and new technologies.

More news of Hyundai's Paris star cars will be published in advance of the show and will be available on the stand.

Proton makes a Motability deal easy

PROTON Cars has highlighted its range of Motability deals available to customers through the Motability scheme.

Available with nil deposit under the Motability scheme, Proton's stylish and affordable range of cars are fitted with parking sensors as standard.

Offering motorists a choice of Contract Hire or Hire Purchase schemes, Proton's dealerships around the UK can provide customers with real peace of mind with all maintenance and servicing, comprehensive insurance and full breakdown assistance for the vehicle, provided by the RAC, being included in the agreement. The Motability Contract Hire scheme is available over a three-year period on selected Savvy, Gen-2 (hatchback and saloon) and Satria Neo models.

The Motability scheme was set up to enable people claiming the higher rate mobility allowance to have a new car instead of the allowance which enables them to get about much easier. Included in the cost of the surrendered allowance are insurance, road tax and servicing costs – making it a really convenient programme. The scheme, which is a registered charity, has a total fleet of cars in excess of 533,000 across the country, making it one of the largest fleets in the UK.

The smart little Savvy comes with a zippy 1.2-litre engine and smooth gearbox making it a lively performer. With contemporary clearform headlights, low front skirt and 15-inch alloys, the Savvy packs a punch when it comes to style. It also comes with a whole host of other features as standard, including remote central locking, parking sensors and an alarm/immobiliser.

Available with the 1.6-litre engine, the GEN-2 range, which includes the 5-door GEN-2 family hatchback, the 4-door GEN-2 saloon and LPG dual fuel GEN-2 ecoLogic, represents great value for money and features air conditioning, electric front windows and reverse parking sensors as standard.

Meanwhile, with its Lotus ride and handling, a sporty exterior, the Satria Neo delivers both excitement and economy in one car; plus 16-inch alloy wheels, electric windows, reverse parking sensors and rear spoiler all as standard and topped off with a centre mounted exhaust and race-inspired bucket seats.

To find out more about any of these offers or arrange a test drive, contact your local Proton dealer, call Proton on 0800 0 521521 or visit www.proton.co.uk.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

It's another Merritt award for ace Liam

LIAM Merritt is the winner of the prestigious Ransomes Jacobsen Junior Golf Award.

The 14-year-old Haverhill member added the honour, which is organised by the Suffolk County Golf Partnership and recognises outstanding achievement by a junior, to an already impressive roll of honour.

Merritt was nominated by Haverhill's junior organiser, Linda Macfarlane, a move which was wholeheartedly backed by the junior committee who have watched his progress since he joined the club in May 2009.

Since joining the Saturday Junior Academy run by head pro Paul Wilby and his assistant Ollie Rush, he has attended all the 77 sessions and has progressed to the Elite Junior Academy, with his handicap sliced from 36 to 12.

In March he was awarded the Junior Committee Trophy, and on the course collected the first four newly-instituted junior medals and the Peter Bowers Trophy, with his attitude for >> Stephen Boyles and James Higham won the Haverhill Juniors foursomes match. They took top spot in a competition played off half combined handicap with a score of 87-21-66, with Hayden Durrant and Liam Merritt second on 89-19-70.

It's all yours: Marian Mercer, Catie Heathfield and Sally Price collect the Belstead Shield. CP

Belstead delight for trio

HAVERHILL were joint winners of the Belstead Shield at the Suffolk Ladies Division Three meeting at Waldringfield Golf Club.

The trio of ladies' captain Sally Price, vice-captain Marian Mercer and Catie Heathfield – who was third in the individual event on countback – shared top spot with Felixstowe.

Details – Individual: 1 Helen Lawson (Diss) 41pts, 2 Angela Chapman (Newton Heath) 38pts on countback from 3 Catie Heathfield (Haverhill). Team: 1 Haverhill (Heathfield 38pts, Sally Price 37, Marian Mercer 33) and Felixstowe (P Coffield 37pts, H Moss 36, 3 J Cross 35) 108.

>> Sue Carr is the ladies' club champion, her two-round gross score of 181 earning her the title.

The second round was combined with the Pam Ratford Trophy – an 18-hole medal event – which went to Doreen Darbey (nett 73) from Ann Thompson (84) and Linda Macfarlane (87). Lyn Fish landed the Handicap Trophy with a nett 152.

>> Jackie Condon won the combined ladies September Medal and LGU Pendant event, which has led to her handicap being trimmed by one.

Details: 1 Jackie Condon 90-20-70, 2 Lyn Fish 97-25-72, 3 Doreen Darbey 101-28-73.

Double time: Annaka Benson and Alice Iron took top spots in the Suffolk Ladies CGA's High Handicap Cup, a three category competition (six-hole medal, plus nine and 18-hole stablefords) for girls at the St Audrey's club at Woodbridge.

Benson won the six-hole medal event with 36 points – just a year after joining Ollie Rush's Sunday morning coaching sessions at the Haverhill club.

And Iron topped the nine-hole event with 24 points, six under her handicap and five clear of the runner-up. Both are members of Haverhill's junior academy run by head professional, Paul Wilby. CP

West Wrating 5 Spartak 78 4

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14B

SUPERSUB Bill Bush scored the late goal to seal a stunning comeback win for West Wrating in a nine-goal thriller.

The Qualitape UK-sponsored side were 4-1 down in the first half before getting to grips with the opposition.

Two Rory Jebb goals kept Wrating within touching distance at half time and the man of the match completed his hat-trick just after the break when he pounced on a rebound from Ryan Cooper's shot.

A brilliant strike from Ben Murray, from Mark Coulson's corner, levelled matters before Wrating finally took advantage of a succession of flag-kicks when Bush headed the winner.

Withersfield 5 Priory Parkside 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14A

THE new-look Withersfield side made a flying start to life at their new West Wickham base. Featuring a side packed with new players after a number of last year's side left to join Cambridge City, they made an ideal start with Liam Santry's goal after three minutes. Mitchell Burr made it 2-0, the debut-making Aidan Course fired in a superb long-range strike and Joe Baker got the fourth – all before half time.

The second half was less impressive as Priory tried to get back into the game, with Baker's second goal keeping the away side at bay.

Kedington 6 Histon Hornets 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C

KEDINGTON, the former Withersfield side, made a flying start to the season when Jamie Lingard put them ahead

Bush fires Wrating home in a thriller from their first move of the game in the opening minutes. Histon equalised 10 minutes later but man-of-the-match Callum Dray was involved in the build-up which led to Lingard scoring his second.

Kedington really turned the screw in the second half, Cameron Kidd tapping in the third to get the ball rolling. Jack Ferguson curled in a free kick to take the game beyond Hornets, Cameron Larkin made it 5-1 with a low shot and Ferguson scored direct from a corner to wrap up the win.

Comberton Crusaders 1 Haverhill Rovers 2

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13A

DESPITE having to reverse the fixture because their pitch was unavailable, Haverhill Rovers made a winning start to the season.

After a tentative start, Rovers – sponsored by Herma – started to dominate and Charlie Smith, Joe Tofts, Will Bailey and Chidera Nkem Paul all went close.

They did not go ahead until the second half when Smith fired in a low shot after cutting in from the left. And the winger added the decisive second goal, although midfielder Joe Tofts almost added a third but his shot cannonned back off the crossbar.

Milton 1 West Wrating 7

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C

A COMBINATION of hard graft and excellent passing football helped Wrating dominate the early stages. However, either the goal frame or the Milton keeper got in the way until Ellis Wiffen broke the deadlock. Man-of-the-match Scott Bishop knocked in the rebound from Jack Harvey's free kick to make it 2-0 but Wrating still had to work hard to get the cushion they deserved. Wiffen added his second before Charlie Ellam (2), Keaton Dial and Mo Horsley completed the scoring.

Little Paxton 3 Castle Camps 4

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12A

CASTLE Camps had to battle back from a two-goal deficit to register their opening-day victory. Poor defending led to them conceding twice in the first 10 minutes but once they got the ball down and started to compete for possession they got back into the game.

Jones, Thompson, a spectacular long-range goal from Woodley and Robson put Camps in charge before a late Little Paxton goal made it an anxious finish.

Parkfield 3 West Wrating 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A

WEST Wrating may been in good form when it came to their rehearsals – finishing with a 100 per cent record from their pre-season campaign – they finished empty-handed from their long trip to March to face last season's Division B champions.

Despite the Reds having a fair share of possession, they were beaten by three stunning strikes – the home side's only decent chances throughout the game – while Jamie Boulton's long-range shot appeared to be carried over the Parkfield goal-line but the referee waved play on.

It's double time for Rovers . . .

Wisbech Town 0 Haverhill Rov 2
Ridgeons League, Premier Division

MARC Abbott and Lewis Harper were on target as Haverhill completed an early-season double with victory over Wisbech at their new ground on Tuesday.

The visitors, who beat their opponents 2-1 a fortnight ago, defended well throughout the game and were dangerous in possession.

Haverhill are without a game on Saturday – scheduled league opponents Leiston are still in the FA Cup – but return to league action on Tuesday, at home to Ely City.

Haverhill Rovers 4 Northampton Spencer 0
FA Vase, first qualifying round

DALTON O'Brien notched a double to send Haverhill into the second qualifying round on Saturday.

Only 43 seconds were on the clock when Greg Strong launched a ball forward, and Northampton Spencer keeper Pete Smith went to collect. But it hit his body and crawled over the line.

In the 27th minute, Marc Abbott's first-time shot went in off the underside of the keeper's arm.

And Haverhill made it 3-0 in the 32nd minute, with Louis Harper slotting the ball through for the unmarked O'Brien to finish.

After half time, Harper played a one-two with Abbott before squaring the ball for O'Brien to place his shot past Smith.

Haverhill will be at home to Debenham LC in the next round.

Club out to court players of future

YOUNGSTERS have been honing their skills at Haverhill Tennis Club thanks to free coaching sessions.

Club coach Rob Jeffs and his team have been putting children from ages four to 14 through their paces with a variety of training drills and exercises aimed at refining their basic technique.

The sessions, staged over two weeks, attracted more than 150 youngsters.

The club's acting chairman, Steve Williams said: "It's been great. We want these sessions to get the children interested in tennis and we're hopeful some of them may go on to join the club. We've had quite a lot of interest so far."

The coaching sessions were covered by a grant from the Suffolk Foundation Charity and Williams hopes they may be able to do something similar next summer.

D-day for Haverhill bid

HAVERHILL'S chances of landing the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Two title will be decided on Saturday.

They face Brightlingsea at home knowing four points will secure the championship.

However, since the end of July, the weather has disrupted their march to glory with three of their last five games rained off.

>> Haverhill's second team completed an unbeaten home campaign by thumping Nacton in Division Six.

Despite scorching to 76 for 0 off 16 overs, the visitors hit the wall when Russell Davis was brought into the attack and, in eight overs, helped reduce them to 107 for 8.

He finished with 4 for 39 as Haverhill tightened their fielding, which was typified by a brilliant catch at mid-off by 15-year-old Tom Saville, who also weighed in with 3 for 10 from six overs as Nacton subsided to 140 for 8 from 45 overs.

Haverhill, however, reached their target with 22 overs to spare after a brutal unbroken second-wicket stand of 110 runs between Neil Winter and Liam Savage.

Those runs came off 15.4 overs, Winter hammering 10 fours in his 62 not out while Savage blasted two sixes and seven boundaries in his unbeaten 61.

They finish their season at divisional leaders Brightlingsea II tomorrow.

>> Haverhill's Sunday first team secured their Hunts County Bats Sunday

League, Division One status with a five-wicket win against 10-man Lakenheath. Davis and Dan Poole proved to the lethal partnership again, reducing Lakenheath to 27 for 5, the later returning 3 for 8 off 10 overs while the former ripped out key batsmen Pallent and Frith, who fell first ball to a cracking yorker.

As the ball softened, though, the visitors, who had lurched to 109 for 8, got back into the game and posted 151.

Poole was also instrumental in the reply, scoring a calm unbeaten 36 as Haverhill – who did not win until their 10th game of the campaign in July but then won eight out of nine – got home with 13 overs to spare.

They finish their season at home to Mildenhall on Sunday.

>> The Sunday seconds were not so lucky, though.

They knew only a win against Long Melford would take their relegation fight to the last game of the Division Four season at Elmswell.

But against a strong Melford side containing four first-teamers, they lost by 50 runs.

Despite a promising opening, when Haverhill contained the home side to 11 off 10 overs, the visitors had no answer to the dangerous Skeggs who scored a stunning unbeaten 143 out of his side's 236 for 3.

Haverhill made a poor start, stuttering to 31 for 4 and only an unbeaten 72 from Saville – his best senior score – and 35 from Martyn Wilkins got them to 186.

Title challenge goes to final day
